UK points-based Immigration system: Employer Partner Pack

The way you hire from the EU has changed

Swipe up to find out more

Thank you for using the February 2021 edition of our Employer Partner pack.

Free movement ended on 31 December and the UK has introduced a points-based immigration system. The new system treats EU and non-EU citizens equally and transforms the way in which all migrants come to the UK to work. Anyone coming to the UK to work will need to apply for permission in advance except Irish citizens or EU citizens eligible for status under the EU Settlement Scheme.

To support you in providing essential guidance about the new points-based system to employers and your stakeholders, we have developed a suite of digital and print assets with information to help employers prepare.

This pack outlines our key messages and provides communication products for use on channels including social media, email updates and e-newsletters. Please do feel free to share this pack and the assets among your wider partners.

Your help and support in communicating this essential guidance is much appreciated. We hope this pack makes it as easy as possible to share updates with your audience and stakeholders through your range of digital channels.

If you have any questions or feedback, please contact us at: PBISEmployerComms@homeoffice.gov.uk

Employers now need to be a licensed sponsor

Key messages

- The way you hire from the EU has changed. You must be a licensed sponsor to hire eligible employees from outside the UK.
- Free movement has ended, and the points-based immigration system has salary and language requirements that change the way you hire from the EU.
- The system treats EU and non-EU citizens equally and transforms the way in which employers recruit from outside the UK.
- You need a sponsor licence to hire most eligible employees from outside the UK. This does not apply to Irish citizens.
- Some immigration routes, such as Global Talent, are 'unsponsored'. You don't need a licence to hire employees with an unsponsored visa.

UK Points-based Immigration System: Employer Factsheet

The Home Office has published information on GOV.UK to help employers prepare for the UK's new points-based immigration system.

Key lin

- The way you hire from the EU is changing. From 1 January 2021, you will need to register as a licensed sponsor to hire eligible people from outside the
- Free movement is ending, and the new points-based immigration system will introduce job, salary and language requirements that will change the way you hire from the EU.
- The new system will freat EU and non-EU citizens equally and transform the way in which employers recruit from outside the UK. Anyone you want to recruit from outside the UK, excluding Irish citizens, will need to apply for nemission first
- You'll need a sponsor licence to hire most eligible employees from outside the UK. You can find further information on becoming a sponsor here.
- Employers do not need to be a sponsor to employ someone from the residen labour market with an existing right to work in the UK. This also includes Irish citizens, EU citizens with settled or pre-settled status, and non-EU citizens with indefinite leave to remain in the UK.
- All existing sponsors will automatically transfer into their equivalent routes under the new points-based immigration system.

Skilled worker rout

- From 1 January 2021, if employers want to recruit workers from outside the UK's resident labour market, they will need to be a Home Office licensed sponsor. This will enable employers to recruit workers from anywhere in the world.
- Under the new skilled worker route, anyone coming to the UK to work will need to demonstrate that:
 - they have a job offer from a Home Office licensed sponsor the job offer is at the required skill level RQF 3 or above (A Level
 - and equivalent)
 they speak English to the required standard
- In addition to this, the job offer must meet the applicable minimum salary threshold. This is the higher of either:

The UK's points-based immigration system: Right to Work: Employer factsheet

Right to Work: Employer Factsheet

The Home Office has published updates to the Employer's Guide to Right to Work Checks on GOV/Lifk to support employers to undertake right to work checks for EEA and Swiss critizens (EEA) from 1 January 2021 to 30 June 2021.

Key line

- Right to Work checks for EEA and Swiss citizens will not change until after 30 June 2021. As a transition measure, employers can continue to accept the passports and national identity cards of EU citizens as evidence of their right to work up until 30 June 2021.
- Employers are not be expected to differentiate between EEA citizens who arrive before the end of the transition period (31 December 2020) and those arriving after in the grace period from 1 January to 30 June 2021.
- Employers must not discriminate against EEA citizens who choose to evidence their right to work using their passport or national identity card, and neither can you insist EEA citizens use the online service.
- If an individual has not applied to the EU Settlement Scheme by 30 June 2021 or does not hold any other form of leave, they will be in the UK without lawful status.
 Therefore, they will not have a right to work from that date and may be liable to enforcement action.
- Where the right to work check has been carried out in accordance with the relevant secondary legislation, employers will have established a continuous statutory excuse and a legal defence against liability for a civil penalty in the event that the employee does not have the right to work.
- Employers will maintain a continuous statutory excuse against a civil penalty if the initial checks were undertaken as set out in our guidance.
- New guidance on how to conduct right to work checks on EEA citizens after 30 June 2021 will be provided in advance of this date.
- · Queries about the Right to Work Scheme can be sent to:
- RighttoRentandRighttoWork@homeoffice.gov.uk

Additional information

- EEA citizens with status under the EU Settlement Scheme or the new pointsbased immigration system may choose to use the Home Office online service to evidence their right to work.
- The Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Act 2020 ends free movement between the EU and the UK on 31 December 2020 (11pm). For those EEA citizens who are lawfully resident in the UK by virtue of free movement law prior to the end of the transition period (31 December 2020)
